DAILY BRIEF — ZORAH'S DAILY HOME

YOUR DAY

Hockey at 12:30, showers by noon, and Shabbat ends at 5:38

Kislev 4 · Toldot · Jonah's hockey 12:30 · Daily brief at sdltor.github.io/household-groceries/

Zorah, it is Shabbat Toldot and Kislev 4 on the school calendar. Jonah plays at 12:30 at Bill Bolton, the Sabres against the Kraken in exhibition game six, and Shabbat ends at 5:38 this evening.

Environment Canada's 5:00 a.m. forecast is mainly cloudy with a 30 percent chance of flurries or rain showers, rising to a 60 percent chance of rain showers near noon, right around game time. The wind turns northwest at 20 km/h, gusting to 40 this morning, and the high is 6°C. Pearson read 3.1°C under mostly cloudy skies at 4 a.m. Tonight the showers chance is 40 percent early in the evening, the wind eases, and the low is plus 1.

Sunday is mainly cloudy and 7°, with swimming at 12:55 and Stone's birthday party at 3:00. The week then turns sunny, up to 10 on Tuesday and 11 by Wednesday. Thursday is no school for student-led conferences, with Jonah's school meeting at 6:10 p.m., and Friday is a PD day.

COOKING

At high heat, the oven rack decides whether vegetables brown or burn

Serious Eats' Anne Wolf baked six foods on the top and bottom racks: moderate heat barely cared, 500°F cared a lot

Anne Wolf baked each food twice for Serious Eats, once on the highest rack and once on the lowest, with convection off. Cookies at 325°F and a cake at 350°F came out nearly identical, with the lower-rack bottoms only slightly darker. At 500°F the story changed: parsnips on the lower rack were espresso-brown underneath, effectively burnt, while the upper-rack batch had caramel-coloured patches.

Her rules: for moderate baking, the middle rack is a fine default. For high-heat roasting, move the pan up, or go low only if you want a deep sear and will watch closely. With two pans, swap them halfway. And if the bottom scorches before the food is done, move it higher; the rack you start on does not have to be the one you finish on.

FASHION

Swap the white tee for a striped one and the rest of the outfit can stay

Ana Escalante writes for Who What Wear that a long-sleeve striped tee or sweater makes a plain cold-weather outfit feel more considered, with that slightly undone French quality, and you do not have to rethink anything else. Her pairings include a black blazer with wide-leg black jeans, a trench coat over light-wash jeans with a suede tote, and a striped polo sweater with a leather jacket and pointed black boots.

She also likes a striped shirt with black cargo pants, black loafers and a leather belt. Our note, not hers: with showers likely near noon and gusts to 40, the trench version is the one for the rink today.

THE TOWN

ON THE TOWN

The Ritz-Carlton Curated Holiday Market

Through Wed Dec 30 at the EPOCH patio at The Ritz-Carlton, Toronto. A free holiday market, listed by Very Toronto as open through the end of December.

A Legacy in Motion: The National Ballet of Canada at 75

Through Sun Jan 10 at the TD Gallery, Toronto Reference Library. A free exhibition marking the company's 75th year, per Very Toronto's listings.

RECOMMENDED

A mystery scavenger hunt at the ROM, for a rainy weekend afternoon

The Adventures of Indie Santiago: ROM Mystery Scavenger Hunt runs at the Royal Ontario Museum until December 13, according to Very Toronto's weekend listings. It is an indoor plan for a showery Sunday after swimming, or for the two days off next week, when Thursday and Friday have no school. Check the ROM's site for times and tickets before you go.

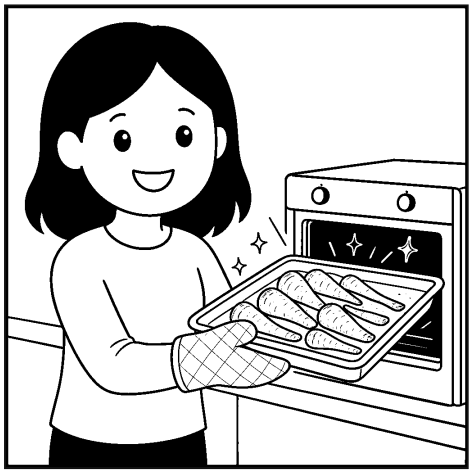

PUZZLES

Bottom rack, 500 degrees. The parsnips are burning underneath.

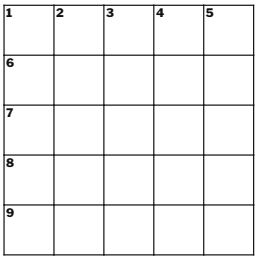

Move the pan up. The rack you start on isn't the one you have to finish on.

Golden on top, caramel underneath. Nothing burnt.

DEAR TIMES

Two days off next week: how do I fill Friday?

Dear Times, Thursday is conferences and Friday is a PD day, so my son is home two days in a row. I want one of them to feel like a treat, not just screen time. Where do I start?

— Long Weekend in the Middle of the Week, Toronto

Dear Reader, Let Thursday belong to the conference, since his school meeting is at 6:10 that evening. Make Friday the treat. Environment Canada has a mix of sun and cloud and 11° for that day, so a walk is realistic, and an indoor plan like the ROM scavenger hunt is a good backup. Candles are at 4:30, so plan to be home by mid-afternoon.
