DAILY BRIEF — ZORAH'S DAILY HOME

YOUR DAY

A frosty two-degree start, pasta at lunch, and a warm swing by Thursday

Cheshvan 16 · Clear and cold, high near 9°C, dry · Gr. 7 Coffee with Claire at 8 p.m. · Daily brief at sdltor.github.io/household-groceries/

Zorah, this is the cold morning the week promised: about 2°C at 7 a.m. under clear skies, feeling closer to −2°C, and dipping to about 1.7°C by 8 before the sun, up at 7:46, gets to work. Hats and real coats today. It climbs to about 8°C by noon and peaks near 9°C around 3 to 4 p.m., with clouds building and rain chances at only a few percent.

At RHA it is Week 2 lunch: pasta, garlic knots, salad and milk, and the Jr. Girls play soccer. Sunset is at 6:15, and it is about 6°C at 8 p.m., feeling near 3°C, when the Grade 7 Coffee with Claire begins. Your Daily brief is at sdltor.github.io/household-groceries/.

Then the week flips: about 15°C Wednesday with sushi and an RHA basketball game at 4, and near 21°C Thursday with a chance of drizzle. Friday is a 3:15 dismissal with candles at 5:53, Saturday is Halloween with 12:30 hockey and a sleepover, and the clocks go back an hour Sunday.

RECOMMENDED COOKING

Toast the orzo first: a bright chicken soup for a two-degree week

Rebecca Firkser's fennel-and-ginger chicken soup with golden orzo and lemon, in Bon Appétit

Rebecca Firkser's soup takes its cue from Egyptian "bird tongue" soup, named for the little orzo shapes. Crushed fennel seed, black pepper, cardamom, cloves and fresh ginger bloom in olive oil for about 20 seconds, then boneless chicken thighs simmer in broth and water for 15 to 18 minutes before being shredded. It takes about 50 minutes and serves four to six.

The trick is toasting a cup of orzo until golden, about five minutes, before it simmers in the broth for eight to ten more; toasted pasta stays al dente longer than plain noodles. Shredded chicken, five ounces of baby kale or spinach, lemon zest and lemon juice finish the pot. BA toasts the orzo in butter; a kosher kitchen can use olive oil instead (our suggestion, not the recipe's).

RECOMMENDED FASHION

Toggles, robes and sculpted shearling: the coats worth investing in

"When temperatures drop, your coat becomes the look," writes Andrea Zendejas, and this season's runways agreed. The toggle coat is back, fastened with leather or woven rope at Dries Van Noten, Louis Vuitton and Polo Ralph Lauren. Shearling returns with shape, cinched at the waist or with a peplum at Loewe and Bottega Veneta, and the robe coat, belt optional, drapes in velvet and light wool at Colleen Allen and Calvin Klein.

Funnel necks run midi to maxi at Gucci and Tory Burch, and the trench gets bold colour and swingy cuts. For more drama there is animal print, faux-fur trim on sleeves and hems (Vogue likes it with denim, as at Conner Ives), and lustrous jacquard, which Zendejas suggests wearing with denim and flats. For true winter, she says, choose a longer faux fur.

THE TOWN

ON THE TOWN

Halloween at the Toronto Railway Museum

Fri Oct 30 – Sun Nov 1 at Toronto Railway Museum, Roundhouse Park. A pumpkin-train craft, a scavenger hunt with Halloween prizes, a ghoulish gallery, the train simulator and guided tours, plus one of the season's last mini-train rides, weather permitting. Recommended for ages 4 to 11, but everyone is welcome; included with regular admission.

Halloween at the Bata Shoe Museum

Sun Nov 1, noon – 4 p.m. at Bata Shoe Museum. Halloween crafts, a museum-wide "trick-or-treat" scavenger hunt with iSpy cards, and a footwear try-on station; costumes encouraged, and children 12 and under come with an adult. The museum's new beaded-footwear show, Brilliant, opened October 22. It works after Jonah's 12:55 swim.

Pumpkin chocolate chip cookie bars, no scooping required

For a Halloween weekend bake, Serious Eats' Leah Colins presses chewy pumpkin cookie dough into one 8-inch pan. She browns the butter with cinnamon, ginger, nutmeg and allspice, then cooks the pumpkin purée down in the same saucepan until it is visibly drier and slightly darker. Bittersweet chips go in and on top, and the pan bakes 25 to 30 minutes. It makes 12 bars; allow about 2¼ hours, most of it cooling.

DEAR TIMES

Two degrees Tuesday, twenty-one Thursday: what do I even wear?

Dear Times, This morning starts near 2°C and Thursday is supposed to hit about 21. My closet is half-packed for winter and half still summer. I refuse to get dressed three different ways in one week. Is there one outfit plan that survives all of it?

— Thermostat Whiplash, Toronto

Dear Reader, Build the week from layers, not outfits. Today wants the real coat, a hat and a knit, since it feels like −2°C at 7 a.m. and only reaches about 9. Wednesday, around 15, the same knit goes under a trench. Thursday, near 21 with a little drizzle possible, the knit comes off and the trench stays. Vogue says the toggle coat is back; it buttons over all of it.
