DAILY BRIEF — ZORAH'S DAILY HOME

YOUR DAY

Hot dog lunch, a mild 19°C day, and rain after dark

Cheshvan 24 · High near 19°C · Sunset 5:04 p.m. · Daily brief at sdltor.github.io/household-groceries/

Zorah, it is hot dog day at RHA: the Week 1 lunch is hot dogs with veggie sticks and potato wedges. The morning is cloudy and mild, about 11°C at 7 a.m. (it feels near 10), warming to about 19°C by noon. Rain chances stay under 10% until 5 p.m.

Grade 6 parents have their Coffee with Claire today, as Claire Sumerlus, RHA's Head of School, continues her week with parents; Grade 4's is Thursday at 8 p.m. Showers become likely after dark, about 30% at 7 p.m. and 59% by 8, so keep an umbrella by the door.

Thursday looks wet too (58%), with the 9 a.m. PA meeting and a friend's birthday party for Jonah at 5:30. Friday is the first early Shabbat, with 2:30 dismissal and candles at 4:44 p.m. Saturday's 1:30 hockey game against the Jets comes with a high near 12°C and a chance of showers; Shabbat ends at 5:45.

COOKING

Meatballs you never have to roll, ready in 30 minutes, with our swap for a kosher kitchen

NYT Cooking's craggy beef meatballs brown in loose mounds, then simmer in a simple pomodoro sauce

Christian Reynoso's point is that a meatball doesn't need to be round to eat like one. Bread crumbs soak into a soft paste, then get mixed with garlic, parsley, crushed fennel seeds, red pepper, an egg and a pound of ground beef. Instead of rolling, you drop the mix into a hot 10-inch skillet in about five large, loose mounds and leave them alone until deeply browned, about 4 minutes.

Then you flip the mounds and break each into about three rough, golf-ball-sized chunks, brown the new sides, pour in a jar of smooth pomodoro-style sauce and simmer gently 8 to 10 minutes. The sauce settles into all the crags. It serves four, with spaghetti or a sturdy kale salad. Our note: the recipe mixes the beef with Parmesan and milk, so for our kitchen we would leave out the cheese, soak the crumbs in water or chicken stock instead, and skip the Parmesan at the table. That swap is ours, not the recipe's.

FASHION

Move over, leopard: this winter's quieter animal print is Bambi

Brittany Davy has spotted it in Oslo, London and New York: the Bambi print, named for the 1942 Disney fawn. It shows up as soft, irregular dots in cream, tan and espresso. Next to bold, high-contrast leopard or snake, it gives a winter outfit a quieter, more romantic look that still feels classic.

Both luxury and high-street shops carry it, from jackets and skirts to faux-fur scarves and hats, and Zara has joined in. Because the colours are neutral, it pairs with muted and bright shades alike. Davy bought a faux-fur Bambi jacket from Next and would style the print with an espresso V-neck knit and a suede knee-length skirt, or with indigo jeans.

THE TOWN

ON THE TOWN

TD Community Sunday at MOCA

Sun Nov 8, 11 a.m.–5 p.m. at Museum of Contemporary Art Toronto. Admission is free all day, and kids can drop in to the Assemblage Adventure workshop from 11 to 3 to build art from found pieces. After Jonah's 12:55 swim the workshop window is short, but the galleries stay open until 5.

Celestia: Light and Music at St. James

Sat Nov 7, 7:15 p.m. (runs Nov 6–Jan 31) at Cathedral Church of St. James (King & Church). A seated show that turns the cathedral's arches, stone and stained glass into the screen, with projections set to an original orchestral score: ten scenes in five acts. A live choir sings Nov 6–8. The 7:15 Saturday session falls after Shabbat ends at 5:45. Tickets online only; doors open 15–20 minutes before.

Love shakshuka? Try eggs poached in smoky salsa

Octavio Peña broils tomatoes, onion, garlic and a habanero until charred, blends them smooth with Mexican oregano, cumin and water, then poaches eggs in the gently simmering salsa, covered and over low heat. Crema, scallions and cilantro finish it, with warm tortillas or tostadas for scooping. Start with half the chile if your heat tolerance is lower.

DEAR TIMES

I finally bought the leopard coat. Now it's Bambi?

Dear Times, Last winter I saved up and bought a leopard coat, my one big print. This morning I read that fashion people have moved on to fawn spots. Do I hide the leopard in the back of the closet and start over with deer?

— Spotted, Toronto

Dear Reader, Keep the coat. Even the writer announcing the Bambi trend calls leopard timeless. The fawn print is the quieter cousin, soft dots in cream, tan and espresso, so try it in something small first, like a scarf or a hat, and wear it on the days the leopard feels like too much. With rain after dark tonight and Thursday, whichever coat you choose, bring the umbrella.

WANTED

Meatball Inspector, Retired
Former enforcer of perfectly round meatballs seeks new role. A recipe that browns them in loose mounds has made the job obsolete.

Umbrella Spotter
Needed from about 7 p.m. tonight, when the rain chance climbs from 30% toward 59% by 8. Must also be free Thursday.

FOR SALE

Leopard Scarf, Still Roaring
Owner is eyeing fawn spots in cream, tan and espresso, but has been told leopard is timeless. Not really for sale.

Meatball Scoop, Barely Used
No longer needed. The new method drops the mix in the pan in rough mounds and breaks them up with a spatula.
