DAILY BRIEF — ZORAH'S DAILY HOME

YOUR DAY

A crisp, sunny Tuesday, pizza for lunch, and Jr. Boys Soccer at RHA

Cheshvan 9 · About 7°C at dawn, high near 15°C, dry · Daily brief at sdltor.github.io/household-groceries/

Zorah, Toronto is waking up cold and clear – about 7°C before sunrise, feeling closer to 5°C – and warming to around 15°C by mid-afternoon under sun, with no rain in the forecast. It is a few degrees cooler than Monday, so the morning calls for a real jacket.

At RHA it is Pizza Day: pizza with fries, garlic knots, salad, and milk. The school calendar also lists Jr. Boys Soccer today, and the players get a dry field and a bright fall afternoon.

Picture days follow on Wednesday and Thursday, then a 3:15 dismissal Friday with candles at 6:03 for Shabbat Lech-Lecha. Jonah's hockey exhibition is at 11:30 Saturday at Bill Bolton, and his swim is at 12:55 Sunday.

BON APPÉTIT

Bon Appétit's creamy miso mushroom pasta lands on the table in 25 minutes

Hana Asbrink's Oct. 15 recipe leans on miso, Parmesan and a touch of soy for a sauce that is creamy but not heavy.

Hana Asbrink calls this the creamy mushroom pasta to make as soon as the crisp fall air sets in, built on a hardworking trio of miso, Parmesan and a little soy sauce. She recommends egg-based fettuccine nests, which cook almost as fast as fresh. While the pasta boils to just shy of al dente, a pound of crimini or mixed mushrooms goes into a hot skillet with olive oil and a pinch of salt – salting early, she notes, gets them releasing their water faster.

Once that liquid cooks off and the edges brown, sliced garlic turns golden, white wine lifts the browned bits and reduces to about a tablespoon, and butter and white miso melt in before heavy cream simmers until slightly thickened. Soy sauce and pepper finish the sauce. Tongs move the pasta straight into the skillet with a cup of its cooking water; everything tosses for about three minutes, then grated Parmesan goes in off the heat. It serves four.

HARPER'S BAZAAR

Fall runways went red, and Harper's Bazaar shows five easy ways in

Jaclyn Alexandra Cohen writes that red was all over the fall/winter 2026 runways and, unlike past seasons, reached almost every wardrobe category. Some designers used it as a finishing touch – crimson belts on drop-waist dresses at Chanel, scarlet brooches on blazers at Khaite. Tory Burch showed cherry crewneck sweaters, Isabel Marant sent out vibrant burgundy jeans with contrasting neutrals, and Michael Rider at Celine went head to toe in ruby, carmine, magenta and vermilion.

Her advice is to keep your go-to silhouettes and swap in red: scarlet straight-leg jeans with a neutral button-down and a thick belt, or a red crewneck with a purple pencil skirt for a "grape-tomato" colour block. Red pumps or high-vamp ballerina flats liven up neutral workwear and beige trousers, and a red brooch or earrings refresh a favourite blazer. The lowest-lift move of all is a red lip with a white T-shirt and jeans.

Chatelaine's one-pan za'atar chicken and basmati for a cozy fall night

Dylan Muñoz tosses skin-on, boneless chicken thighs with lemon juice, olive oil and salt and chills them at least two hours or overnight – or freezes them in the marinade and thaws them overnight. The thighs crisp skin-side down in cast iron, then shallot and basmati toast before warm broth goes in. The chicken sits on top and bakes at 425F for 30 to 40 minutes, finished with za'atar, sumac, pomegranate seeds and parsley.

DEAR TIMES

Pizza today, picture day tomorrow — is the good shirt safe?

Dear Times, Jonah's school lunch today is pizza, fries and garlic knots, and Picture Day 1 is tomorrow. One instinct says the good shirt stays in the closet until Wednesday morning. The other says a Grade 4 boy can find tomato sauce on any day of the week. With Jr. Boys Soccer on the school calendar too, is there a safe plan?

— Sauce-Shy, Toronto

Dear Reader, Trust the first instinct. Today is a play-clothes day: pizza, fries, garlic knots and a sunny high near 15°C. Lay the picture shirt out tonight, away from the backpack, with a comb beside it. Picture Day runs Wednesday and Thursday on the school calendar, so check which morning is Grade 4's before you iron anything.
