Polish stuffed cabbage for nights under the schach

Jewish Food Society's sweet-and-sour rolls – freeze the cabbage first, then simmer two hours in tomato-lemon sauce.

In Tamar Raskas Benovitz’s family, sealing stuffed cabbage nods to fate being sealed on Shemini Atzeret, the day after Sukkot. The Jewish Food Society recipe softens a whole green cabbage by freezing it for 24 hours and thawing it for another 24 so the leaves roll cleanly.

The sauce simmers tomato with water, lemon juice, brown sugar, and raisins; the filling mixes ground beef with optional rice, onion, garlic, and egg. Nest the rolls seam-side down and simmer covered about two hours. Useful make-ahead work for a Friday that already holds early dismissal and 6:51 candles.

STYLE DESK · FALL 2026

Below-the-knee boots, a funnel-neck shirt, and a short trench

Jillian Vieira’s ELLE Canada fall staples list singles out pieces with longevity for cooler evenings.

Below-the-knee boots pull summer dresses into fall. A funnel-neck shirt softens the funnel-neck jacket trend, and a short belted trench skips bulk at the waist.

Also on the list: a Beaufille pencil skirt and organically shaped hoops from Toronto’s Dean Davidson. For a mild 22°C Erev, walkable boots and one clean outer layer do the useful work.

THE TOWN

ON THE TOWN · WEEKEND

Toronto Garlic Festival at Allan Gardens

Sun Sep 27, 10 a.m.–5 p.m. – Ontario garlic growers, tasting, and market stalls for the festival’s 15th year. A cooking-friendly stop the same afternoon as Jonah-Swimming if timing allows.

Gardiner Museum Family Day clay hour

Sun Sep 27, 11 a.m.–3 p.m. – families work clay in the Makerspace with educator-led activities. Kids attend free; a calm hands-on stop the same afternoon as Jonah-Swimming if timing lines up.

RECOMMENDED

Start the cabbage freeze before the weekend

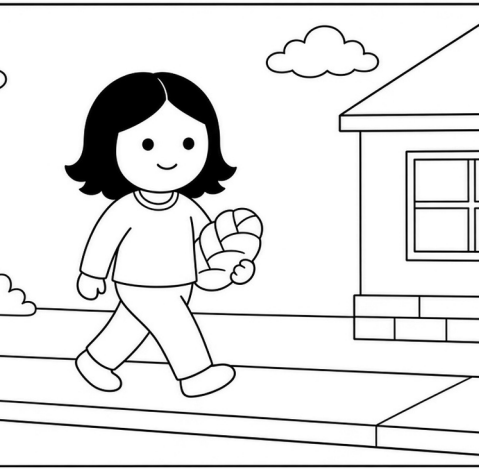

Twenty-four hours frozen, twenty-four thawed – then the rolls are ready for a two-hour simmer.

Boots and a short trench

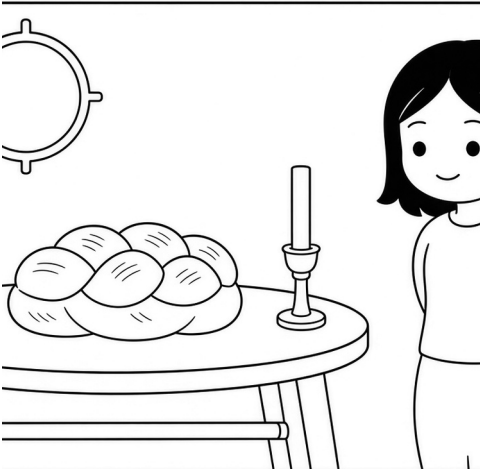

One walkable boot and a clean outer layer cover candle-night chill without a full wardrobe reset.

Event details can change; check the listing before going.

DEAR TIMES

May the challah wait until 6:51?

Dear Times, Erev Sukkot means candles at 6:51 and challah on today’s lunch list, but the 3:15 bell always makes me hungry enough to tear into the ceremonial loaf early. Is a pre-candle snack a betrayal of the challah, or just survival?

– Early Heel, Toronto

Dear Early Heel, Survival. Keep the round challah intact for after the candles; grab a plain cracker or the school-lunch heel if the early bell bites. The blessing lands cleaner when the display loaf still has all its wedges.
