Lox and bagel bread pudding, ready before the fast

Robin Kurss's make-ahead pan for eight — bagels, salmon, and cream cheese baked together.

Kurss's savory pudding starts with two everything bagels torn into chunks, then folds in chopped tomatoes, smoked salmon strips, red onion, chives, and scallions. An egg-and-milk custard goes over the top; spoonfuls of veggie cream cheese finish the dish before it bakes at 375°F for about an hour. Bake it today so Monday night is only reheat and slice.

RECOMMENDED · FASHION

Funnel necks, suede boots, and dark denim

Global News' fall 2026 roundup puts high-collar jackets and chocolate suede boots ahead of another all-black closet.

Funnel-neck jackets work as transitional layers; bold stripes show up on knits and rugby tops; soft pink accents sit next to autumn neutrals.

For a Sunday that runs from the JCC to candles, one high-collar layer is enough.

THE TOWN

ON THE TOWN · COOKING

Roncesvalles Polish Festival finishes today

Sunday 11 a.m.–7 p.m. along Roncesvalles Village for the 20th edition. Local restaurants put out sample plates, with polka stages and folklore dance through the afternoon. Free admission; fits a window after the sleepover ends and before Jonah's swim – or skip and keep the evening for candles.

RELISH food festival wraps Sunday in Etobicoke

Sunday 11 a.m.–7 p.m. in the north parking lot at Cloverdale Mall. Food trucks and tents plus a makers' marketplace. Free admission rain or shine – overcast and dry today helps.

A TORONTO NOTE

Two food festivals, one Erev

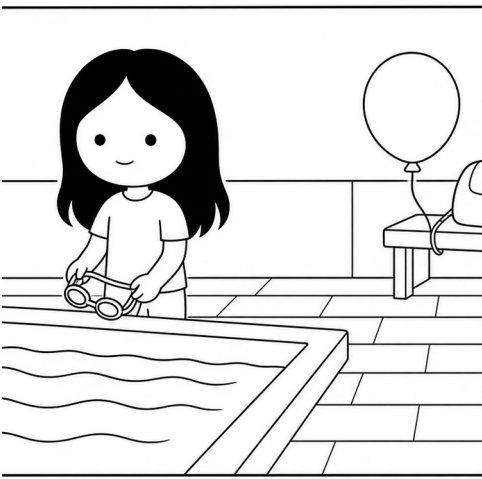

Both run into early evening; candles are at 7:00 p.m. Choose a midday stop or keep the day for swim and break-fast prep.

Event details can change; check the listing before going.

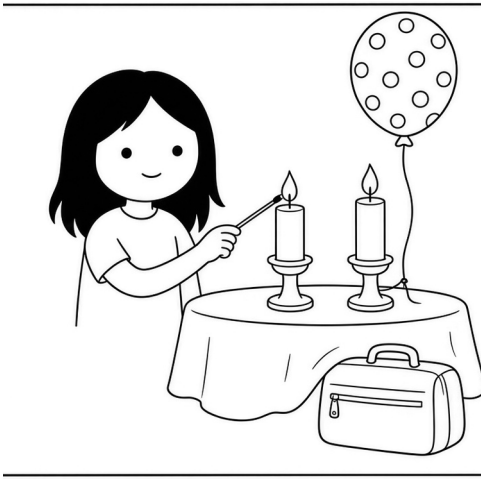

PUZZLES

Sleepover ends at 10. One balloon comes home.

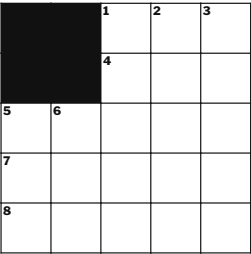

Swim at 12:55. The balloon waits on the bench.

Candles at 7. The balloon is still on the guest list.

DEAR TIMES

Can the goggles share a tote with the candle box?

Dear Times, The sleepover ends this morning, swim is at 12:55, and candles are at 7:00. I keep packing the goggles next to the candle box. Is that a system or a warning?

– Split Tote, Toronto

Dear Split Tote, It's a system until 1:25 p.m. and a warning after that. Use two totes. Label one wet and one quiet. The fast does not need chlorine.
