DAILY BRIEF — ZORAH'S DAILY HOME

YOUR DAY

Picture Day 2, chicken fingers for lunch, and a bright, chilly start

Cheshvan 11 · About 3°C at drop-off, sunny then clouding over, high near 16°C, dry · Daily brief at sdltor.github.io/household-groceries/

Zorah, Toronto is clear and cold this morning – about 4°C before dawn and feeling close to 1°C, holding near 3°C through drop-off. The sun rises at 7:40, and the afternoon climbs to a high near 16°C as clouds drift in, with no rain in the forecast.

At RHA it is Picture Day 2, and lunch is chicken fingers with veggie sticks and potato wedges – a tidy menu for a good shirt. A quick comb at the door and a nearly windless morning should keep the hair in place, at least until recess.

Friday is a 3:15 dismissal with candles at 6:03 for Shabbat Lech-Lecha. Jonah's Saturday hockey at 11:30 at Bill Bolton is now marked as a practice, not the exhibition game; Shabbat ends at 7:03, and his swim is at 12:55 Sunday.

SERIOUS EATS

One skillet, crisp chicken thighs, caramelized apples and sweet potatoes: a fall supper with a Dijon pan sauce

Laila Ibrahim's Oct. 8 recipe browns the chicken, roasts everything in the same pan, then builds the sauce right in it.

Laila Ibrahim's one-pan supper starts with six bone-in, skin-on chicken thighs seared skin side down in a 12-inch skillet for about eight minutes, until the skin is deeply browned and lets go of the pan on its own. The chicken comes out, and cubed sweet potato, shallot wedges, rosemary and thyme go in for about three minutes, followed by thin slices of a crisp apple such as Honeycrisp or Pink Lady for two more. The thighs are nestled back on top, skin side up, and the whole skillet roasts at 450F for about 20 minutes.

While the chicken rests for five minutes, the same skillet goes back on the stove: white wine and Dijon mustard cooked down while scraping up the browned bits, then chicken stock, a tablespoon of apple cider vinegar and a little maple syrup, with cold butter whisked in at the end. Torn sage is an optional finish. It serves four in about 55 minutes, with one pan to wash – just use a towel on that hot handle.

WHO WHAT WEAR

Opera dressing is coming for quiet luxury – and it's meant for errands, not just the opera

Ava Gilchrist, Who What Wear UK's fashion writer, is calling it: opera dressing – tassel scarves, fur-trimmed coats, chinoiserie motifs, lace and jewel-toned silks – is set to replace quiet luxury this winter. Her touchstone is Cher in Moonstruck, wearing burgundy velvet to La Bohème, and her point is that the look now turns up far from any theatre: Elsa Hosk running errands in a vintage 1940s silk coat, Kate Moss in Paris in a Conner Ives robe cut from repurposed 18th-century tapestries.

On the runways she points to Ralph Lauren's ornate floor-grazing coats and tasselled scarves, Celine's embroidered cream coat and Doên's jewel-toned silks and faux-fur trims. Olivia Koennecke, founder of Maison Essentiele, tells her the trend reflects a renewed appetite for romance, glamour and a little theatricality after years of minimalism – borrowing pieces of occasionwear for everyday. You don't, Gilchrist adds, need to know your arias from your overtures.

THE TOWN

ON THE TOWN

Diwali Festival of Lights at City Hall

Sat Oct 24 and Sun Oct 25, noon to 9 p.m.; free at Nathan Phillips Square. The fourth annual festival brings live music and dance, light installations, food vendors and family programming, with a musical fireworks show from the City Hall towers on Saturday night – after Shabbat ends at 7:03. Sunday is a full second day.

Opera Atelier's The Descent of Orpheus

Thu Oct 22 to Sat Oct 24 at 7:30 p.m.; Sun Oct 25 at 2:30 p.m. at Koerner Hall. Opera Atelier opens its season with Canada's first fully staged production of Charpentier's Orpheus opera, with tenor Daniel McGrew in his Canadian debut, soprano Mireille Asselin as Eurydice, Atelier Ballet dancers and Tafelmusik musicians. The company calls it an introduction to opera and ballet for family and friends.

Bon Appétit's weeknight curried lentil, tomato and coconut soup

Nina Moskowitz says weeknight soup used to be a foreign concept to her, until a craving sent her to the archive for this Curried Lentil, Tomato, and Coconut Soup. Red lentils break down to give it body, golden S&B curry powder adds a mellow, earthy kick, and crushed tomatoes and coconut milk finish the pot.

PUZZLES

Picture Day 2: one careful part, one pocket comb packed for backup.

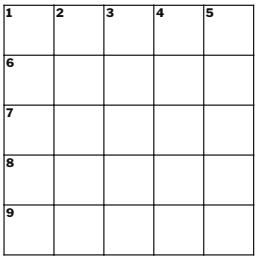

Meanwhile, the backup comb stays home to guard the lunch box.

After school: hair by recess, grin by the boy. Proof approved.

DEAR TIMES

The emergency comb never left the kitchen — is Picture Day 2 lost?

Dear Times, Picture Day 2 is today at school, lunch is chicken fingers, and I have just found the emergency comb on the kitchen counter, right next to the lunch box I packed it beside. The hair was perfect at the front door. Is there any hope for it between the door and the camera?

— Combed Once, Toronto

Dear Reader, Every hope. It is about 3°C and dry at drop-off with almost no wind, so nothing in the sky is coming for your work, and damp fingertips make a perfectly good comb. If the proof card comes home with a cowlick and a grin, that is the picture you will want in twenty years. Chicken fingers, at least, are a tidy lunch.
