DAILY BRIEF — ZORAH'S DAILY HOME

YOUR DAY

French toast at school lunch, a mild 18°C afternoon, and rain coming midweek

Cheshvan 22 · High near 18°C · Sunset 5:07 p.m. · Daily brief at sdltor.github.io/household-groceries/

Zorah, today is Breakfast for Lunch at RHA, and the calendar says the breakfast is French toast, with a fruit cup on the side. The morning is chilly, about 6°C at 7 a.m. and feeling closer to 3°C, but it climbs to about 14°C by noon and near 18°C by mid-afternoon under thickening cloud. Rain chances stay at 6% or lower all day.

This is Coffee with Claire week. Claire Sumerlus is meeting parents one grade at a time in hosts' homes: SK tonight at 8, Nursery Tuesday, Grade 6 Wednesday and Grade 4 Thursday at 8. The Grade 4 evening is also on our own calendar.

Thursday is the full day: the PA meeting at 9 a.m., Jonah's friend's birthday party at 5:30, then the Grade 4 coffee. Rain is likely Wednesday and Thursday, and it cools off to about 10°C by Saturday's 1:30 hockey game. Friday is the first early Shabbat, with 2:30 dismissal and candles at 4:44. Your Daily brief is at sdltor.github.io/household-groceries/.

Eleven braised chicken dinners for cold nights, and the five that suit our kitchen

Serious Eats' Emily Johnson rounds up one-pot braises, from coq au vin to Senegalese yassa

Emily Johnson's point is that a braise does most of its work after the prep is done: brown the chicken, add liquid, cover, and let the oven take over. The vegetables underneath soak up the chicken fat, and the covered pot keeps everything moist. Her list of 11 runs from French classics to dishes from Morocco, Senegal, the Philippines and Jamaica.

Several work for us as written or close to it. The one-pan Moroccan chicken cooks with deeply caramelized onions and dates and gets almonds on top; serve it with couscous or rice. Chicken yassa, from Senegal, uses a big pile of slow-cooked onions sharpened with lemon and mustard. The m'qualli tagine gets its flavour from preserved lemon and olives, and the soy-braised thighs and chicken adobo are both made for spooning over rice. Our note: the coq au vin, blanquette, cabbage braise, chorizo dinner and scarpariello all rely on bacon, sausage or cream, so we would skip those, and check the full recipes for butter before planning a meat meal.

Tired of stiff jeans? Who What Wear makes the case for soft trousers

Remy Farrell admits she is getting tired of jeans once the weather turns, and says she found plenty of company online among women complaining about wearing "hard pants" to work. Her alternative is soft trousers that still look put together. Drawstring trousers come in heavier fabrics for winter and go with tees, shirts or jumpers and boots, trainers or ballet flats by day, or a blazer and heels at night. Jersey kick flares are the stretchy option, in black, grey or chocolate brown.

Silk wide-leg trousers carry over from summer; she pairs them with chunky knits and a long trench. "Relaxed tailoring" means roomy trousers with a nipped-in waist, balanced by a fitted top. Corduroy is back too, in camel, brown, burgundy or olive, worn with shearling, fluffy knits or crisp cotton. Cargo pants make the list as well, back after an early-2000s revival in both relaxed and sleeker cuts.

THE TOWN

ON THE TOWN

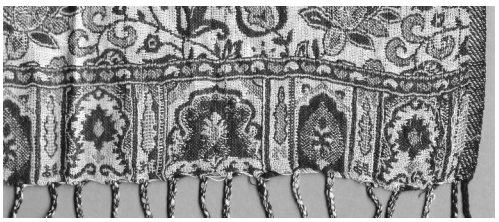

Everybody Knows: Leonard Cohen 10th Anniversary Concert

Sat Nov 7, 8 p.m. at Meridian Hall. Leonard Cohen's son Adam Cohen leads this tribute, and for the first time he is joined onstage by his own son, Leonard's grandson. The songs are paired with archival photos and film, with visuals by Moment Factory; Live Nation lists Feist, Rufus Wainwright and Serena Ryder as guests. It runs about two hours and starts after Shabbat ends at 5:45.

Toronto Game Expo

Sun Nov 8, 10 a.m.–4 p.m. (also Sat) at Better Living Centre, Exhibition Place. A two-day fair for video games, anime and fandom, with more than 600 exhibitor tables, over 100 gaming experiences and a cosplay competition on the main stage. Organizers expect more than 10,000 people. General admission opens at 11, so Sunday works after Jonah's 12:55 swim.

A paisley shawl, flat boots and a U-neck: one editor's November list

Allyson Payer's monthly list of ten things to buy leans toward rich textures. She says paisley scarves are cool again precisely because they look old-fashioned. Her other picks include a printed coat, soft flat leather boots, jeans with one wide cuff, a U-neck sweater and a purple beanie.

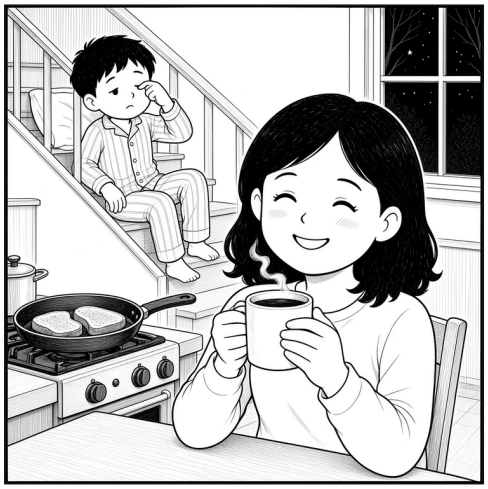

PUZZLES

Monday, still dark out. The calendar has one hint: French toast.

Noon at school: Breakfast for Lunch. Best plot twist of the week.

Lights out upstairs. Downstairs, one quiet cup of coffee earned.

DEAR TIMES

School is serving French toast at lunch. Can I still make it for supper?

Dear Times, I bought a challah over the weekend so I could make French toast for supper tonight. This morning I read that my son's school is serving French toast for lunch today. I would rather not waste the challah, but I also don't want to be the second-best French toast of his day. Do I go ahead with my plan?

— Batter Ready, Toronto

Dear Reader, Yes, but change something. A kid who had French toast at noon will notice a repeat, so make yours different enough to count as its own meal: thicker slices, cinnamon in the egg, or fruit on top. Or save the challah. It will make even better French toast on Sunday morning, after the first early Shabbat.
