DAILY BRIEF — ZORAH'S DAILY HOME

YOUR DAY

Swim at 12:55, a sunny start, and clocks go back next Sunday

Cheshvan 14 · Sunny morning, clouds by mid-afternoon, high near 16°C, dry · Week 2 lunches begin · Daily brief at sdltor.github.io/household-groceries/

Zorah, it is a clear, cold start in Toronto — about 5°C before dawn and close to 2°C with the breeze, bottoming out near 5°C around 7 and 8. The sun is up at 7:44, and the morning stays bright: about 13°C at noon and 14°C by the time Jonah gets in the pool. Clouds move in by mid-afternoon, but it stays dry, with a high near 16°C around 4.

Jonah's swim at Prosserman JCC runs 12:55 to 1:25, so the goggles hunt should start before 12:30. Sunset is at 6:18, and the evening stays mild, about 13°C after dark, which helps if hair is still damp.

This week, RHA's Week 2 lunches start Monday with hamburgers, Friday is a 3:15 dismissal with candles at 5:53, and Saturday is Halloween with a 12:30 hockey game and a sleepover. Clocks go back an hour next Sunday, November 1.

RECOMMENDED COOKING

Tzimmes meets tagine in a big pot of fall beef stew

Faith Kramer's make-ahead Shabbat braise with squash, apricots and prunes, in J. The Jewish News of Northern California

Faith Kramer marries the North African tagine with the Ashkenazi standby tzimmes, the sweet dish of root vegetables, for heartier fall Shabbat dinners. She says it is best made one to three days ahead so the flavours can meld, it serves eight, and the leftovers freeze well for up to three months. Kabocha is her pick for the pumpkin, though butternut and other winter squash work too.

Three pounds of chuck or brisket cubes are tossed with a spice mix of cinnamon, ginger, cumin, paprika, turmeric and coriander, browned, then simmered with four cups of onion, garlic, honey, lemon juice and the soaking liquid from a heaping cup each of dried apricots and prunes. Carrots, squash and sweet potato go in by stages, then the fruit, until the beef is fork-tender and the sauce syrupy. Serve it over couscous, rice or noodles with toasted sesame seeds and parsley.

RECOMMENDED FASHION

Seven ways to wear fall's denim, from inky indigo to skinny

Jalil Johnson starts with the season's darker news: inky indigo jeans, worn as sleek denim-on-denim with low-heeled booties, hammered gold-tone earrings and an oversize cashmere peacoat. A summery denim dress carries into fall under a long-line neutral cardigan with loafers, a cue from Zimmermann. After seasons of baggy and barrel legs, Khaite and Valentino pushed slimmer jeans, which he pairs with a svelte short-sleeve knit and calf-hair mules.

Slouchy jeans get dressed up with a cognac suede wrap coat, red textured flats and a striped tee. The denim skirt now falls to the knee or ankle; he gives it a preppy tweed blazer over a sweatshirt and plaid shirt. And thanks to Dario Vitale's Versace, colourful jeans are back: red denim with a grey henley and a deep purple belt.

Sunday big-batch dinners to carry you through the week

Emily Johnson's roundup of 14 Serious Eats recipes is built for a busy week ahead: everything can be made on Sunday and reheated. The meatless picks suit a full school week: a crisp Greek leek-and-feta prasopita wrapped in flaky pastry, an all-American eggplant Parmesan, and a bubbling, sage-scented lasagna made with pumpkin that tastes like fall in northern Italy. The Food Lab's no-boil baked ziti skips the pot of water and cooks the pasta right in the oven.

DEAR TIMES

Sunny Sunday swim — does the wet hair need a hat?

Dear Times, Swim is at 12:55 at the JCC, and every week the goggles go missing right before we leave and my son walks out with dripping hair. The sun is out today. Can I let the hair air-dry, or do I chase him with a towel and a hat?

— Goggle Hunter, Toronto

Dear Reader, Check the swim bag pocket first; goggles love it there. It is a bright day, about 14°C around 1 p.m., but the morning starts near 5°C and clouds roll in by 2, so a hat over damp hair for the walk to the car is a fair compromise. A quick towel rub at the pool, the hat on, and lunch in the car. Monday brings hamburger day at school and a grey 14°C — wash the goggles tonight and pack them first.
