DAILY BRIEF — ZORAH'S DAILY HOME

YOUR DAY

Shmini Atzeret, Jonah-Hockey 11:30–3:30, candles at 7:37

Tishrei 22 · Bill Bolton rink window · sunny high near 16°C · Simchat Torah tomorrow.

Zorah, Saturday is Shmini Atzeret – RHA marks Tishrei 22 – and Jonah-Hockey runs 11:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at Bill Bolton (updated window). Skies look sunny and clear, a high near 16°C, and a low near 9°C.

Candle lighting is 7:37 p.m. Looking ahead: Sunday is Simchat Torah with Jonah-Swimming at the Prosserman JCC (12:55–1:25) and the holiday ends at 7:35 p.m.; Monday starts Week 1 lunches (French toast · fruit cup) and Early Years re-registration. Daily brief: <https://sdlitor.github.io/household-groceries/>

The RAV4 hail repair is closed – car handed in; rental in use. Nothing pending to chase on that this morning.

KITCHEN · STUFFED FOR SIMCHAT TORAH

Cabbage and onions rolled like Torah scrolls

Sharon Gomperts & Rachel Emquies Sheff (Jewish Journal, Oct 1) — Sephardic spice-stuffed cabbage and onions for Simchat Torah.

Sharon Gomperts and Rachel Emquies Sheff write in the Jewish Journal (Oct 1, 2026) that stuffed vegetables on Simchat Torah stand in for Torah scrolls filled with text — cabbage, onions, zucchini, peppers, each community with its own name for the dish.

Their version layers purple cabbage and onion shells with beef, basmati rice, mint, parsley, pine nuts, silan, cinnamon, and paprika, then slow-roasts in a lemony tomato broth. A make-ahead festive main if the long rink window leaves the evening for candles at 7:37 and a quieter kitchen.

STYLE DESK · FALL 2026

Cognac boots for a sunny rink Saturday

Harper's Bazaar's Sarah Maberry (31 Aug 2026) maps the boot ladder for AW26: cognac and chestnut browns lighter than last year's chocolate, utilitarian riding boots, pared-back Western details, slouchy shafts, and olive suede for cooler mornings.

On a clear Shmini Atzeret with a long Bill Bolton window and candles later, a chestnut knee-high or low Western boot is the practical layer between rink drop-off and evening. No prices in this paper.

THE TOWN

ON THE TOWN

Simchat Torah Celebration at Darchei Noam

Sat Oct 3, 5:30 p.m. at Congregation Darchei Noam. Hakafot, singing, dancing with Torah scrolls, klezmer (Kishke), light refreshments. After Jonah-Hockey ends at 3:30 and before candles at 7:37 — workable evening window.

Family Time Shabbat: Simchat Torah (Temple Sinai)

Sat Oct 3, 10:00 a.m.–12:00 p.m. at Temple Sinai · Magic Mountain. Crafts, songs, blessings, joyful Simchat Torah celebration for families. Overlaps Jonah-Hockey start at 11:30 — pick the fit, not both.

RECOMMENDED · SUNDAY OUTDOOR WINDOW

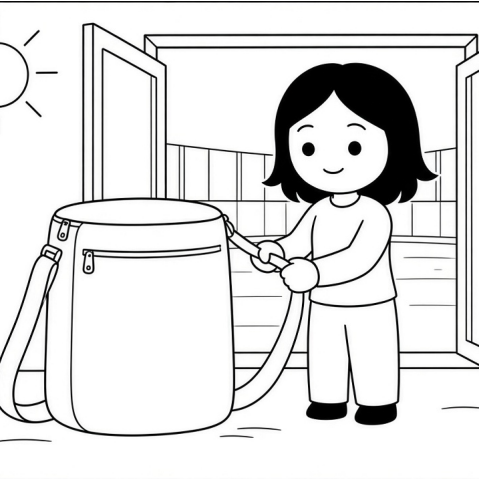

Salmon migration day at Morningside Park

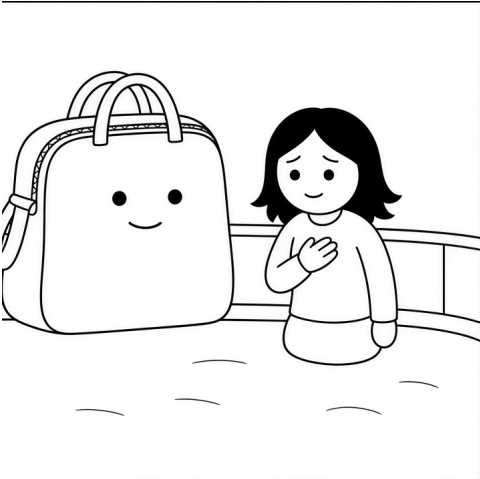

Sunday Oct 4, 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., TRCA hosts Adventures of Salmon at Morningside Park — free hands-on stations on salmon life cycles, crafts, and optional guided creek walks during fall migration. Milder forecast than Saturday. Build around Jonah-Swimming at 12:55–1:25 if you want both; otherwise treat it as a flexible drop-in before or after the pool.

Event details can change; check the listing before going.

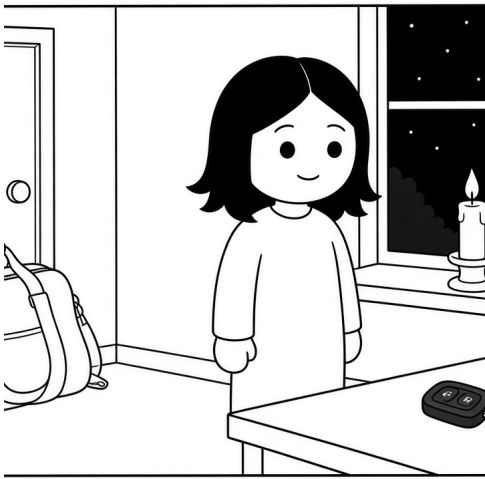

PUZZLES

11:30 – rink first. Holiday in the zip pocket.

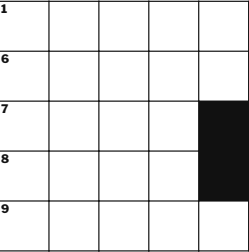

3:30 – bag claims overtime. Candles not consulted.

7:37 – candles. Bag benched. Scroll joy Sunday.

DEAR TIMES

Skates want a nap. Candles want a parade.

Dear Times, Hockey runs 11:30 to 3:30 and candles are at 7:37. The skates want a nap. The candles want a parade. Who wins?

– A Reader in Toronto

Dear Reader, Skates get the afternoon; candles get the evening. Label the gap BETWEEN RINK AND FLAME. Sunday's Torah dance is the encore – bring dry socks.
